Mayport Navy Leaguers-

The month of April has reminded me of why we do the things we do in the Mayport Navy League. We had so many events that allowed us to support our sea services in a way that shows our appreciation to this great cause. This month, we had a ship tour, change of command, dinner meeting and a ship return It seemed like each event topped the other in appreciation.

I will start with the Ship tour. Several Navy Leaguers along with our sea cadets, toured DDG 99 USS Farragut. You will see from the pictures, what a great event it was. I hope that when given future opportunities to tour these warships, more people will take advantage. I would like to make a suggestion, if you know someone who may want to join the Mayport Navy League, invite them on the next tour. This will help them see why we do what we do.

The second event was Admiral Harris, and Fourth Fleet change of command. Admiral Harris has been one of our most ardent supporters. From helping us welcome ships home to speaking at our functions, to mentoring sea cadets, he has went way above anything ask of him. He truly believes in what we do…and his remark to us was that when he retires he will join our ranks (his wife, Cora is already a lifetime member). We honored him with the Navy League Scroll of Honor. In true ADM Harris fashion, it felt like he was giving us an award instead of the other way around.

Next, the April dinner was nothing short of spectacular. We honored our three Navy sailors of the year, air, shore and sea. I have to say, these three young men were incredible. If you have never been to one of these events where we honor our Sailor, Coast Guard or Marine of the year, you are missing out. The gifts for each awardee totaled over $1500. Betty's team of ROSANNE JAMISON...KATHY KARMEN...CANDI COY... DEBBIE MULLINEAUX... MARGARET KENNEDY and LISA McKEOWN did a wonderful job securing gifts for all of our winners.

2014 SEA-AIR-SPACE EXPOSITION A SUCCESS

The following are comments provided by the CNO at the Sea Air Space Banquet:

"I want to thank the sponsors that made all this possible tonight. We can't do this kind of get-together for my staff or for those of us in uniform to be able to come into a professional forum and sit down and sit across tables and take on sometimes the thorny issues, but perhaps more importantly, talk straight with each other about what we need. Speak English, as we sometimes like to say, and get it out on the table. We very much appreciate what you've done for us."

" I'd like to discuss something that's been on my mind for a little bit. I talked to the Chairman about this a little bit and told him I was going to speak to it. It's a little different, but it's what I call pursuing interdependence. You say what would that be? Well, I'm going to tell you."

"We're going to be busier than ever the Navy, the naval forces, the sea services. There is a relentless, high demand for naval forces and I think as far out as I can see at least a third of our force is going to be forward. "

"So challenges abound, but I think opportunities as well. So look, sequestration or some dollar reduction looms ahead in some form or another. I think it's time for the services to adapt and to come together in this regard. At this time I think the services, that's us, service chiefs and all, need to turn more toward each other, not turn away from each other, and not go into our shell to figure out how do we get the most out of this period? We need to act ecumenically. We need to streamline intelligently. And we need to invest our funding wisely. I think the last two we are pursuing pretty well."

Captain Conley was a terrific speaker and we even had a surprise admiral show up to help honor his sailor of the year, SURFLANT ADM Gumataotao (look for him to speak at a future dinner meeting). On another note, because of scheduling conflicts we moved the dinner to Jacksonville Golf and Country Club. The response from everyone that attended was nothing but positive. They really have been great to work with. Look for more dinners at this venue.

Finally, The USS Gettsbury returned home and was greeted by families, friends and Navy Leaguers. Our fellow Navy Leaguers provided flags and smiles to the arriving ship.

This month, note that our dinner will be on MAY 22ND, at Ocean breeze. Our guest speaker will be Congressman Crenshaw. This dinner should fill up fast, so I recommend you get your reservations in early.

In the coming months, watch for more ship tours, receptions and mixers with other Navy League councils in the area. If you know of friends, family that would like to support our mission. Encourage them to become a member. All you have to do is direct them to our website for a membership application. If they are not sure, first invite them to one of our many events to see what we do.

Rick Costner
President - Mayport Navy League

We've got to insist on affordability. In the world I live in, what that means to me is that cost and schedule are as important as speed, as the payload you're going to bring on this thing or any other attribute that we like to call the key performance parameter. We've got to be on time and we've got to be on cost. So how are we going to adapt? "

"Well, in the current budget submission that we put on the Hill, I can only speak to that directly, we've got some pretty good ideas. We've canceled programs that have a low return on investment; we've deferred programs that are risky, that push it out there somewhere; we've streamlined our headquarters over 20 percent; and we're buying smarter. Many of you produce that smartness that we buy. And it's good. It's at a good price. Things are coming in on time. And I appreciate that."

"But I think another area we've got to look at is to learn how to depend on each other more. The Chairman of the Joint Chiefs in his guidance and his vision has been pretty clear, what he calls a joint force interdependency that just doesn't exist like it needs to exist. It's taking jointness that we've talked about for decades to another level. And it's more than operations that we're talking about."

"So that interdependency is a little bit inherent in us. The Navy and Marines have been symbiotic since inception. Jim Amos talks about that. Since the Battle of Nassau in 1776 we've been together. The Navy and the Coast Guard a natural fit. Law enforcement detachments are on our ships today as we go do drug operations or other law enforcement at sea."

How do we go further? How do we get from where we are now?

"We've got to do it deliberately. We've got to look at what are the missions out there. We should avoid single points of failure, so I'm not saying okay, listen, we've got to get rid of all the extraneous or overlapping capability, because if we get down to one capability in the Department of Defense and somebody finds a defeat in that or breaches it, that's too high a risk."

"I think we've got to pursue better cross-talk in our research and development centers of excellence, our laboratories and our services, our industry out there, as well as universities."

J.Michael McGrath
Congressional Affairs Chairman

New Things in Our Navy

Ballistic Missile Defense - our Navy is sending 4 Aegis Arleigh Burke (DDG-51) class guided missile destroyers with Aegis Ballistic Missile Defense capability to be homeported at Rota, Spain. The ships will operate forward in the Mediterranean. By homeporting them in Rota, the required continual presence in the Mediterranean will be much more efficiently accomplished. USS Donald Cook (DDG 75) left Norfolk 31 January 2014 for Rota and will be followed by the USS Ross (DDG 71) and USS Porter (DDG 78) from Norfolk and USS Carney (DDG 64) from Mayport. This is part of a national commitment to support the defense of Europe from ballistic missiles. The phased land based approach is based on our Navy's Lockheed Martin engineered Aegis Weapons System and will have radars and missiles based in Romania and Poland.

Laser Guns at Sea - Our Navy has been testing different laser technologies for years and has developed a fiber solid -state laser that will be installed in USNS Ponce - the afloat forward staging base operating in the Arabian Gulf.
This system is will be tested in that environment for suitability against small aircraft or high-speed boats. The advantage is that the ship generates the electricity for each shot at a much cheaper cost per shot (as opposed to naval gun rounds or missiles). There is no space and weight taken up with magazines and there is no explosive powder required to be stored in the ship - remember, your Sailors sleep next to their ammunition, so this is a very good thing!!!

Mayport Navy League Shipmates - Host Wounded Warriors to the Battle of Midway Event and Dinner on 7 June! We are again hosting the Wounded Warriors, and their spouse or guest, who are attending the Wounded Warrior Project Jacksonville campus classes.

WOUNDED WARRIOR PROJECT

Currently there are about 25 Warriors in residence. They hear about this event from class to class and we continue to have a high percentage accept our offer!

As in the past, we provide two tickets ($65/each) and a double occupancy hotel room for the night ($110 including breakfast) - We want them to have a great, relaxing evening - and NOT drive home on Interstate 95! This year, the total cost of sponsoring a Wounded Warrior and spouse/guest or two Warriors is $240 for the package.

Your support is again requested - we are happy to take any donation!

US Navy Christens the DDG 1000 - USS Zumwalt

On Saturday, 12 April, the US Navy Christened the first of a new class of destroyer - the DDG 1000 - USS Zumwalt at Bath Iron Works, Bath, Maine. This new class of ships has significant new technologies including electric drive, two 155 mm guns with guided projectiles that can range out more than 60 miles with "pin point" accuracy, new radars, a new vertical launching system for guided missiles, automated systems that significantly reduce the crew size requirement and a major emphasis on reduce radar cross section. This radical new hull design is readily apparent from the pictures. George Huchting attended the ceremony and earlier in the week was able to spend some time in the ship and with the crew. The Navy had planned to build 32 of these ships that could provide significant support to our Marines and Army forces ashore while remaining in lower threat areas over the horizon. The cost of the ship and the budgets that the Navy must now live within have reduced that number to 12 and now down to only 3. These ships have a lot of technology to prove out in the fleet and that proven technology can then be used in future ship designs.

Representative Ander Crenshaw
May Dinner Guest Speaker

At the beginning of his second term in Congress, Ander Crenshaw became the first Northeast Florida Member to EVER be appointed to the powerful Appropriations Committee. Now, Congressman Ander Crenshaw is the ONLY member of the Florida Congressional Delegation to sit on Defense Appropriations. Since defense is a major industry in Florida, Ander is well positioned to assist our military and our state. Ander is also the ONLY Florida Member of Congress on Appropriations who chairs a subcommittee. He is at the helm of the Financial Services Subcommittee.

I mention the facts above because sometimes when good things happen in our district, it is overlooked as to WHY these things happen. There is a reason why the largest navy hangar and the P-8s are headquartered at NAS Jacksonville. There is a reason why the East Coast homeport for the navy's newest ships will be at Naval Station Mayport. There is a reason why we have a new veterans' cemetery and a new veterans' outpatient clinic in Jacksonville. There is a reason why the Navy is sending an amphibious ready group (ARG) to Mayport and bringing 2000 sailors to our community. I could mention the renovations at the Jacksonville Naval Hospital, the new indoor aquatic training center at Mayport, or the new helicopter hangars at both NAS and Mayport, but I think you get the idea. The reason is your Congressman Ander Crenshaw. As further proof, the Secretary of the Navy recently recognized Ander's dedication to the nation's Sailors and Marines and awarded him their highest civilian honor – The Navy Distinguished Public Service Award.

Good things do not happen in a vacuum – they happen because of hard work, dedication, experience and proven leadership. In our area, they happen because Ander Crenshaw smartly and quietly goes about the business of protecting our country by making sure our military is not hollowed out by rash budget decisions. He is a respected voice in Washington on defense issues and a champion for our military and our veterans.

In his role as Chairman of the Financial Services Subcommittee, he oversees the budgets of the IRS, the SEC, the USPS and other governmental agencies. Did you even know that? Did you watch him grill the Director of the IRS over the agency's questionable spending? Did you know he cut its appropriations by $2.5 billion? You need to come to the Navy League and listen to your Congressman to find out what is going on in DC behind the headlines.

Prior to coming to Congress, Crenshaw had a long and distinguished career as a successful investment banker. He served three terms in the Florida House when he was the ONLY Republican serving north of Orlando! Several years later, he was asked to run for the Florida State Senate where he served five years and became the FIRST elected Republican President of the Senate. So, quiet leadership has always been his trademark.

You may not see Ander on the television or hear him on the radio railing against this or that, but you can be sure that he is working hard to increase military missions here, advocating for projects vital to Northeast Florida like those that benefit the Port of Jacksonville, and making sure our beaches are sheltered by shore protection projects.

I hope to see you on May 22 at the Mayport Navy League dinner so I can introduce you to my boss, Congressman Ander Crenshaw. Jackie Smith, Navy League Member

We need your help with Reservations for our Mayport Navy League Dinners - whether they are held at Ocean Breeze Conference Center on Mayport Naval Station or at another Venue off base. Please send your payment to arrive at the Post Office Box on the Friday before the event or make a credit card payment through our web-site: www.mayportnlus.org by that Friday. That will make it possible to know our expected number of meals and give our guarantee to the venue on Monday. This can save your council money and us a lot of headaches.

In addition, if you do not have a military ID or MWR Pass, we need to have your name on the Base Access List for the event. Tour of USS Farragut

Mayport Council members and our Sea Cadets toured USS Farragut (DDG 99) on 12 April at Mayport Naval Station.

The crew of the ship led a very interesting and informative tour of the newest guided-missile destroyer home-ported in Mayport. We saw bow to stern and bridge to mess decks. Our Sea Cadets learned a lot!

The following were members of the crew who gave up their time to accommodate our tour:

ENS Lovdahl, ENS Terrell, CTTC (SW) Craver, FCC(SW) Caraway, STG1(SW) Moore, BM2(SW) Burnham and GM3(SW) Gutierrez

Our Sea Cadets looked very sharp and conducted themselves with fine military bearing, reflecting well on themselves and our Council.

Council members Lee Wahler, Jim Young, Kathy Kharman and Dennis Stokowski also enjoyed the visit tremendously.

Sea Cadet News

On April 12th our Mayport Sea Cadets profited from the lack of Navy League Member response by getting the chance to fill these Mayport Navy League Member slots on a training/tour of the USS Farragut (DDG 99).

The Mayport Sea Cadets do 2-3 ship trainings/tours a year and the crew from the USS Farragut gave our cadets one of the most detailed visits we have ever had on any ship stationed at Mayport. This training went beyond our standard ship training/tour and our cadets could not have been happier getting this informative educational opportunity.

The Mayport Sea Cadets want to thank the crew from the USS Farragut for taking this extra time, giving our future Navy a real insight to their ships operational role in today's Navy.

Jim Young

National Maritime Day

Our Navy is proud of our civilian mariners, and on May 22 each year, we honor our shipmates who have "crossed the bar" for the last time. In ceremonies held all over the world, we offer our prayers, our respect and our honor to the memory of our departed shipmates, acknowledging the great debt we owe them.

In this month of remembrance, as we honor all who have fallen in service to our nation, please remember the men and women of our U.S. Merchant Marine. National Maritime Day is a day to pay special tribute to the merchant marine and to the benefits that the maritime industry provides this country and to all who live here.
